MASTER OF SCIENCE IN FINANCE
2019 Annual Report

WARRINGTON COLLEGE of BUSINESS ABOUT THE
MASTER OF SCIENCE IN FINANCE PROGRAM

The Master of Science in Finance (MSF) program started in 2001 and has evolved to primarily a combined degree program for students from various University of Florida undergraduate degree programs wanting to complete both their undergraduate degree and a Master of Science in Finance degree within four years.

UF undergraduate students apply during their second year on campus and begin MSF courses in their third year. Students take graduate-level finance courses alongside MBA and other finance students, in lieu of some undergraduate degree courses. Students intern the summer after their third year with the firm they plan to return to full time after graduation. Most MSF students come from undergraduate finance, accounting, economics and mathematics programs.

The MSF program also serves students who want access to Ph.D. courses or a joint degree from the UF Levin College of Law.
FROM THE DIRECTOR

Greetings from Gainesville.

As we close another successful year in the MSF program, I hope you understand the profound impact you’ve had on the lives of students in the program. Your willingness to mentor students, come to campus and provide support have created an opportunity for MSF students to reach their full potential and successfully compete with students from any university. Your involvement continues to help us move the program forward.

The following pages highlight the opportunities you have provided and the successes the students have enjoyed by taking full advantage of them. Interest in the program continues to go up as enrollment increases. The more diverse interests represented in the larger classes can be seen in the breadth of placements.

Feel free to reach out to me with your thoughts and comments.

Sincerely,

DAVID T. BROWN

Director, Master of Science in Finance program

The Gator Student Investment Fund prioritizes authenticity. Students in the organization don’t work with fake money or simulations. They’re actively operating together to find the best ways for the fund to grow. Now over $560,000 assets under management, there are endless opportunities for students to simulate what their future career can look like. For each student, it’s an investment in their future.

The Gator Student Investment Fund (GSIF) made a $13,440 donation to the Machen Florida Opportunity Scholars Program this spring.

In 2017, the fund announced it would make annual payments through an endowment-like structure that pays three percent of the portfolio value to the Machen Florida Opportunity Scholars Program, which pursues the primary goal of graduating first-generation, low-income undergraduate students.
GSIF HEADS TO THE BIG APPLE

In April, GSIF students presented at OppenheimerFunds in New York City. The presentation was hosted by Krishna Memani, CIO of OppenheimerFunds and Warrington College of Business alumnus. GSIF’s senior leadership—Dominique Angione, John Barakat, Patrick Bowling, Tal Eden and Connor Stone—presented on the fund’s activity and funding priorities as GSIF continues to expand its mission and purpose as an experiential learning opportunity for students at Warrington.

UF alumni Randy Appleyard (Blackrock), Dan Katsikas (Tensile Capital Management) and Larry Smith (Third Wave Global) were also in attendance to provide feedback on the activity of the fund and enhance the experiential learning component of the presentation.
GSIF held its Annual Board Meeting on the UF campus in January while welcoming many impactful members to Gainesville.

BOARD MEMBERS

OUR GRADUATES HIT THE GROUND RUNNING

The MSF experience is built around preparing students for their future. Undergraduate classes and programs can offer guidance into the finance industry soon after a student gets to campus through the Exploring Financial Economics (EFE) program, ensuring they are ready for impact earlier in their internships. All of this comes together to help produce an MSF graduate that will impact their employer on day one of their job.

100% of incoming MSF students were participants in the Exploring Financial Economics (EFE) program. The program is for students in their first two years and helps them prepare to make career decisions before firms begin junior internship recruiting. It also trains them to succeed in their interviews and provides them with a peer group.

“When I walked into the first EFE Unit 1 session, I was interested in a career in finance, though I did not fully understand what that meant. Now, just a few months later, I have gained a much deeper understanding of not only the financial field as a whole, but also of the various jobs within finance. The information sessions led by representatives from different companies, discussions with current MSF students, and lectures vastly increased my knowledge and understanding of a wide range of subjects.

“I have learned a variety of lessons about business in general, including creating a competitive resume, writing proper emails, and presenting myself in a professional manner. I have enjoyed getting to know my peers in EFE, and I appreciate the advice on ways to become involved at UF. I am extremely thankful for all of the opportunities that EFE Unit 1 made possible for me.” —Daniel Sweeney, rising sophomore.
INVolvEMenT PRePARES sTUdENTS FOR gROWTH

The EFE program hosted many roundtables and workshops for students. These included interview workshops, S&T overview with MSF seniors, a women’s panel and multiple opportunities for juniors to coach freshmen. Students were also able to participate in interview practice with Bill Pollert, Senior Vice President, ARC Advisory Services, LLC.

EFE diversity freshmen were able to meet with Abe Ouano (MSF ’07), Director-Team Leader, Global Investment Lab-Americas, Citi Private Bank, NYC, and Citi analyst Sam Dubiel. Ouano has been instrumental in his firm hiring eight analysts from the MSF program.
VISITING IMPACTFUL COMPANIES

EFE students visited Raymond James in St. Petersburg to learn more about the company and the financial landscape. The trip was hosted by Raymond James employees Svetlana Torres, Vice President Investment Banking, and Mercedes Van Woerkom, Managing Director Equity Research.

While on the visit, students were able to experience:

- An investment banking presentation and walk through pitch book with two UF alumni
- Lunch with several UF alumni
- A presentation and Q&A with Alex Anderson, Equity Research Associate for Raymond James Washington Policy Analyst. He spoke to the group on public policy’s impact on markets and the economy
STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

MSF alumni all have one thing in common—an appreciation for their experiences on campus at UF. This connection provides a strong network of alumni across the globe. It’s a powerful network that serves as a lasting bond, bringing graduates together and often calling them back to campus to give back.

FINANCE PROFESSIONAL SPEAKER SERIES

The 2018–19 Finance Professional Speaker Series brought 25 impactful members of the finance industry to the UF campus. Students were invited to participate in experiences like lunch with Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of WellCare Drew Asher, hearing about Jeff Berryhill’s time in the Structured Real Estate Group in SunTrust Robinson Humphrey’s Corporate and Investment Banking Division, and learning about tail-risk based asset allocation from Eric Przbylinski, CFA, CAIA, Quantitative Researcher/Strategist, Janus Henderson Investors.

THE POWER OF THE GATOR NETWORK

In August, the MSF program hosted the 11th annual Gator Finance Professionals Network Reception in New York City. The event was hosted by UBS, specifically:

- JOHN MATHEWS
  Group MD & Head of Private Wealth Management & UHNW

- JIM PELLICANE
  MD UBS Financial Services

- BRAD SMITHY
  MD & Division Director WMA Client Advisory Group SE

The MSF program also hosted the Gator Finance Professionals Network Reception in Atlanta.
BRINGING THE BEST TO CAMPUS

MSF hosted a panel titled “Sick Sigma—Industrial Icon GE’s Un-Glorious Fall From Grace—How Could it Happen? Who Knew?” The panel was sponsored by BB&T Foundation of Free Enterprise: Capitalism and Capital Markets.

PARTICIPANTS

Robinson Bosworth III, Robert Cornell, Timothy Hubbard, Robert F. McFarland and Richard S. Falk
BLAZING A TRAIL

Ashley Isom (MSF Class of 2021) was accepted into the highly selective Girls Who Invest program. The achievement was a major step for the MSF Program. Ashley will be completing the Girls Who Invest training program at the University of Pennsylvania and interning at Wellington Management in Boston.

Isom benefited from the mentorship of Marta Cotton (BSBA ‘85) throughout the lengthy application process. Cotton, who currently works as Principal and Director of Client Development at Matarin Capital, also mentors many of the growing cohort of MSF women who are seeking careers in asset management.
THANK YOU to alumni and friends at the following firms for hiring rising MSF juniors for sophomore summer internships:

- ALEX KELLISON
  Heritage Capital Group, Jacksonville

- IAN GARLAND
  Shoreline Equity Partners, Ponte Vedra

- RAY JOHNSON

Adam D’Augelli was named to CB Insights’ 2019 Top 100 Venture Capitalists list. He was ranked No. 84.

D’Augelli is a partner at True Ventures, which he initially joined in 2009 as a part of True Ventures’ True Entrepreneur Corps fellowship program. In the True Entrepreneur Corps, he worked with B-Stock Solutions, an online marketplace helping businesses liquidate excess inventory.

“The preparation from MSF is a big part of the skills that have helped me in San Francisco,” D’Augelli said.
MSF STUDENTS
LEAD THE WAY

MSF student Olivia Piatkowski was part of a four-person team that took first place at the Thammasat Undergraduate Business Challenge (TUBC) in Bangkok, Thailand in October. The group outperformed 19 teams from some of the top business schools around the world including University of California—Berkeley, University of Southern California, Canada’s Queen’s University, Australia’s Queensland University of Technology, Denmark’s Copenhagen Business School and National University of Singapore, among others.

A team of MSF juniors—Jacob Henschel, William Tomisino-Perez, and Bradley Peterson—came in second place in the University of Georgia Stock Pitch Competition. “We placed second in our group, although judges lauded our presentation and it was a great learning experience,” they said.

MSF junior Graham Boone competed in the Heavener International Case Competition on the UF campus. “One of the most influential opportunities I have had at the University of Florida is my involvement with the Heavener International Case Competition team,” Boone said. “The case competition experience has allowed me to learn how to solve problems quickly and present the solutions in a way that is captivating and convincing.”
MSF STUDENTS
PRIORITIZE DIVERSITY

Latin American Women in Business (LAWIB) received the Warrington College of Business award for Best New Business Student Organization for their organizational influence and accomplishments this year.

“As co-founders of LAWIB, we have seen an idea grow into a wonderful organization. In just one semester, we grew into a group of over 30 members and had speakers from Fortune 100 companies. We cannot wait to see what awaits LAWIB next semester,” said LAWIB co-founders and MSF rising seniors Juliette Brito and Sofia Zacharias.

Diversity in Banking & Securities is an emerging student organization at the University of Florida whose efforts are aimed at informing students from diverse and marginalized backgrounds about the opportunities available in the investment banking and securities industry, regardless of major, ethnicity, cultural background, nationality, gender orientation or identity, or socioeconomic status.

It was co-founded by Felipe Gatos, President of the UF Brazilian Student Association, and Pedro Celis, President of the UF Venezuelan Student Association. Marianne Konfe, Evercore Partners summer analyst, and Melanie Ventura, JPMorgan summer analyst, serve on the Executive Board.
CONGRATULATIONS

to MSF senior Dominique Angione, who was inducted to the University of Florida Hall of Fame.
